Don't let a mishap turn into a disaster

94% of businesses have had a laptop lost or stolen.

Over 250,000 mobile devices were left in the back of cabs in major cities in just six months. The cost of replacing hardware is trivial to the potential impact of losing the wealth of data in customer lists, design specifications and financial statements that the hard drive is likely to contain.

The consequences of this commercially sensitive data falling into the wrong hands are almost unthinkable. Are you doing enough to protect it?

Protect your data and your reputation

Pointsec protects more than 5,000,000 endpoints for some of the world's best-known companies. They offer easy-to-use encryption solutions that you can deploy over any size network. RSA is the market leader in strong authentication solutions with over 21,000 customers worldwide.

Protecting your hard drives with RSA Authentication and Pointsec is a simple and cost-effective way to secure all the data across your business. Plug in the RSA SecurID® SID 800 USB Authenticator, and you'll get much stronger authentication than passwords alone – without inconveniencing your users.

Benefits

- > Simple, cost-effective and transparent to users
- > Makes data worthless without the key
- > Integrates with Single Sign-On and other security
